

Our Training, Your Place

The Kappler University Road Show offers customized training at your location, tailored to the needs of the specific audience. Whether the focus is general industry, hazmat or both, the format allows us to be flexible based on the available time. A two-hour to four-hour session is usually ideal, but extended sessions are available based on your needs.

Meet the presenter: Miller Opolka

As Kappler's Technical Product Manager, Miller Opolka focuses on product development, design improvement, and customized training courses specific to the needs of the end user. Through many projects with fire/rescue, medical, and law enforcement personnel, Miller has gained valuable insight into the demanding applications existing in the workplace. Miller provides on-site educational classes at numerous facilities and training centers across the country and has extensive experience leading both classroom and hands-on training exercises. Miller has been a member of Kappler's Research and Development Board since 2017.

If you are interested in scheduling a Road Show, please contact Miller Opolka at mopolka@kappler.com.

Available Course Topics

- Kappler Corporate Overview
- EPA Levels of Protection
- Fabrics, Seams and Styles
- Hazard Assessment
- Hands-on/ Pressure Testing
- ASTM Test Methods
- NFPA Standards
Kappler NFPA Certified Products
- Features and Benefits
Kappler Fabric Families
- Multi-Hazard Scenario Case Studies

